28th September 2018
GSIB Seminar Hall / Syndicate Hall

Introduction

Banking and Financial Markets are on a state of flux, nationally and globally. Indices have lost heavily and has been reacting sharply to local and global factors. Some Currencies and Commodities prices (including Brent) have become volatile. In India, the Banking sector is still recovering from the ills of demonetization and NPA woes. When these impacts are still in process of recovery, Government has announced the mega merger of three nationalized banks. Many leadership, governance and continuity issues are plaguing banks – be it Public / Private Sector. Mutual Funds, Insurance and Pension Markets are looking for higher traction. Global Banking, Insurance Norms like Basel III and Risk- based Solvency Approaches (RBC) are belting down Banks, FIs, and Insurance Companies Capital Structures. Trade and Commerce related issues are hogging lime-light in diplomacy. Digital economies of the Industry 4.0 era dominated by IoT, AI and ML are re-writing the business models and businesses are inventing / re-inventing sustainable propositions.
